Spock, 3 Others Found Guilty

BOSTON (AP) — Baby doctor Benjamin Spock, Yale University chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., and two others have been convicted of conspiracy to counsel young men to evade the draft. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

"My main defense," Spock said, "was that I believed a citizen must work against a war he feels is contrary to international law. The court has decided to feel differently."

After the conviction Friday night by an all-male federal jury, Spock's counsel, Leonard Boudin, and defense attorneys for the other three said there would be an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The four men were expected to carry their appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, as part of their opposition to the Vietnam war.

Convicted with Coffin and the 65-year-old pediatrician were Michael Ferber, 21, a Harvard graduate student, and Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine.

Marcus Raskin, 34, a Washington research director, was found innocent by the jury after seven hours and 20 minutes of deliberation. The trial began May 20 and lasted four weeks.

Raskin walked from the 12th floor courtroom in federal courthouse, his head down and tears in his eyes.

"I feel very good for myself," he said in a choked voice, "and badly for the others."

Raskin's lawyer, Calvin Bartlett, maintained during the trial that Raskin was not part of any conspiracy and barely knew his co-defendants.

U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford ordered Spock and the other three freed in personal recognizance until sentencing on July 10. They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $50,000 fines.

The jury, in a list of findings on specific charges made in the indictment, found that Spock and the other three conspired to counsel, aid and abet Selective Service registrants to refuse or evade duties under the Selective Service Act.

"My belief has always been," Coffin said, "that the issues we wanted to bring before the court were never argued. That's the legality and constitutionality of the war and the draft. Perhaps the appeals level is the place to do it."

Later, at a news conference on the first floor of the courthouse Coffin added, "I speak for all. If this is a conspiracy, we have the lightning bug confused with the lightning."

Coffin added he was "absolutely delighted" that Raskin was acquitted and described the acquittal as "an important victory for the First Amendment," which guarantees free speech.

"If the jury had found all five of us guilty there would have been the danger of an epidemic of indictments against people who are protesting the draft and the war."

Ferber also said it was "important that one of us was found innocent."

"Marc got off and he certainly should have," Ferber said. "He felt worse than the rest of us, because of the solidarity that has grown up between us since our indictment. We all thought it would have been good to stand or fall together."

Goodman, his arm around his wife Denise, told newsmen: "The Vietnam war is an overwhelming atrocity which is dishonoring our country. My feeling remains that a man has to live by his conscience."

Judge Ford had ruled that the legality of the Vietnam war and of Selective Service laws were not issues in the case.

After they left the courthouse, Spock and his wife Jane, the Goodmans, Ferber and a number of defense lawyers went to a cocktail lounge. When Spock danced with his wife there was applause and cheering.

In its findings on the indictment returned last January, the jury found that the four conspired to hinder and interfere with the administration of the Selective Service Act.

The jury found that the four did not "counsel" registrants to neglect to carry Selective Service registration certificates and draft classification notices, but found they conspired to aid and abet such actions.

Stolen Car Destroyed By Blaze

A car belonging to L. T. Furley, 723 Goodhope St., was stolen last night and burned.

The 1960 Oldsmobile was found burning this morning by Sam Binford, route four. It was found west of the Holiday Inn on Highway 60 near an overpass.

Turley reported the car stolen at 6:30 a.m. today. He said he had left the car parked at the 21 Club on West Malone Ave. last night and it was gone when he went to pick it up this morning.

Binford called police at 6:34 a.m. and reported a car was burning south of town. Police Sgt. Ruben Templeton and Sgt. Gene Harris of the highway patrol investigated.

Apparently the fire was set deliberately. Ground behind the car was wet. Wheat straw lying near the car had been burned and fresh spots of a fluid were found on the trunk of the car.

Bonn Hints Reprisals To Travel Slowdown Vanlandingham Plans to Seek Sales Tax Hike

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. A. Basy Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, plans to introduce a one-cent, four-year sales tax increase in the 1969 legislature.

The tax would be earmarked for capital improvements at state colleges and other institutions.

Vanlandingham said this would free enough general revenue to provide needed increases in state aid under the school foundation program.

A one-cent sales tax increase at the present rate of collecting the existing three-cent tax would produce about $85 million a year.

Vanlandingham is chairman of a special legislative committee which is studying school financial problems.

Welder's Torch Ignites Crate

BERLIN (AP) — With new threats rumbling out of East Germany Bonn authorities today planned ways to pressure the Soviet Union into stopping East Germany's slowdown of traffic to West Berlin.

Mention of "new and unpleasant surprises" from East Berlin spurred the West German government into seeking talks with allied governments on ways to ease the newly imposed travel restrictions—including the possibility of threatening to refuse to sign the U.N. treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

The treaty, passed Wednesday by the U.N. General Assembly, was drafted jointly by the United States and the Soviet Union.

Observers believe a threat to not sign it would push the Soviets into action with its East German ally because Moscow has voiced strong objections to a nuclear armed West Germany.

Refusing to sign would leave the door open for the West Germans to arm themselves at any time.

Traffic out of Communist-surrounded West Berlin was slowed again today by the new visa restrictions imposed by the East German regime Thursday. Police said the traffic jam started before dawn and cars were lined up for up to four miles on the West Berlin side of the East German border waiting to be processed through an autobahn crossing point.

West Germany called home its ambassador to Moscow on Friday. The move coincided with an editorial in the official East German Communist party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, warning that "there will be new and unpleasant surprises" for West Germany as long as it refuses to recognize the East Berlin government.

B52s Pour 150 Tons of Bombs on Viet Cong Infiltration Routes in Saigon Vicinity

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded Viet Cong infiltration routes around Saigon with 150 tons of bombs today, as the enemy shelled several cities and allied positions and ground forces engaged in sharp clashes.

The rolling thunder of the 50-pound bombs was clearly heard in the capital as the bombers made two strikes about 20 miles northwest of the city.

Twenty enemy mortar rounds hit the southern fringe of Saigon, wounding two policemen and six South Vietnamese civilians. About 60 Chinese-made 107 mm rockets struck the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles north of Saigon, but U.S. spokesmen said they inflicted no casualties or damage.

Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc reported sharp fighting in suburban Gia Dinh, where South Vietnamese troops tried to root out guerrillas in bunkers. He said the irregulars failed to dislodge the enemy. A South Vietnamese lieutenant was killed and two American advisors were among 17 wounded.

A government spokesman said South Vietnamese paratroopers killed 30 Viet Cong and suffered three wounded in an engagement through a string of hamlets five miles northeast of Saigon.

Forty-eight North Vietnamese regulars were killed in two actions near the demilitarized zone.

Marines of the U.S. 3rd Regimental Landing Team counted 21 bodies after repulsing an enemy charge on their night position southwest of Da Nang. Three marines were wounded.

Near the South China Sea, other U.S. Marines pinned down a band of North Vietnamese and the cruiser USS Boston was called in to shell the enemy position. A U.S. spokesman said 27 enemy soldiers were killed.

While allied troops fanned out within the enemy's seven-mile rocket range of Quang Ngai and Chau Doc were mortared and light casualties were reported. Mortar rounds also slammed into the Quang Ngai City airport, killing one civilian and wounding 20 others.

At Can Tho guerrillas fired four mortar rounds into a rice mill, killing four civilians and wounding four others.

122 mm rockets hit the supply base northwest of Da Nang, inflicting light to moderate damage. Fifty artillery rounds inflicted light damage on the Cua Viet supply point six miles below the demilitarized zone.

Infantry training centers at Quang Ngai and Chau Doc were mortared and light casualties were reported. Mortar rounds also slammed into the Quang Ngai City airport, killing one civilian and wounding 20 others.

tents. A U.S. spokesman said the civilians presumably would be used as a labor force.

North Vietnamese shore batteries fired on the Australian destroyer Hobart and the American destroyer Chandler when the two warships shelled a highway bridge 11 miles southeast of Dong Hoi. Neither vessel was hit.

U.S. officials said allied soldiers searching for rocket sites around Saigon have found more rockets than have been fired at the city. Since Jan. 21 they said, about 257 rockets have hit the city, and in the same period allied forces have found 304 of the six-foot rockets in enemy ammunition caches.

GOP Governors Dodge Candidates for Platform Issues

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Republican governors have adopted a resolution urging their party to heed their advice on campaign issues—and today, they are trying to agree on what that advice should be.

While they sought agreement on items they would like included in the GOP platform, the governors were not making any suggestions on a candidate to run on it.

The platform—not the candidates—was the announced business of the Republican Governors Association conference which brought 20 of the 25 GOP state leaders to Tulsa.

They met on platform questions Friday but did not reach agreement on any specific positions. They adopted a resolution urging the platform committee of the GOP national convention "to draw heavily upon the material developed" by the governors.

The material is a 5½-inch-thick stack of working papers, including a series of suggested solutions to domestic problems which stir disagreement.

Among these suggestions was a series of new civil rights measures dealing with open housing, racial balance in the schools and fair employment. In addition, the document compiled by the governors' association suggests an income maintenance program for Americans unable to work, and guaranteed employment, by the government if necessary, for those who can.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said the suggestions were not endorsed by the governors, only accepted as a starting point.

The document grew out of a staff studies and a series of platform hearings held by the GOP governors.

There was discord on the question of gun control legislation.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, chairman of the governor's policy committee, advocated strict gun registration; Babcock disagreed.

So did California Gov. Ronald Reagan. He told a news conference he favors measures to keep guns out of the hands of criminals and mentally disturbed, but opposed universal registration.

Reagan said registration of firearms in Communist countries was used "to remove people's ability to fight back" against totalitarianism.

Shafer acknowledged it will be difficult for the governors, with their varying philosophies, to agree on platform proposals. But he said they will keep trying in hopes of fashioning firm positions on such matters as jobs and welfare, law and order, civil rights and the federal system.

"If we don't take positions, we will not be as strong as if we do," in attempting to influence the platform, Shafer said.

Although the conference did not deal directly with the party's not run for the nomination choice for a presidential nominee, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stood to gain one key supporter in his battle to overtake Richard M. Nixon in the race for nomination.

Shafer said in an interview that a substantial majority of Pennsylvania's 61 delegates to the GOP convention favor Rockefeller.

Once again, Reagan said he will not run for the nomination although his name will be offered at the convention as California's favorite son. Were he to become an active candidate, Reagan said, "It would smack as a kind of stop movement. For that reason I think it would be divisive."

"From all the information I've been able to gather from whatever source," he said, "it is still an open convention, the bulk of the delegates uncommitted at this time."

"SOCIAL SECURITY"

By mailing 10 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office Washington, D. C., anyone may obtain a copy of a pamphlet on "Recent Improvements In Your Social Security." For another 10 cents a copy of another pamphlet entitled "Recent Improvements In Medicare" may be obtained from the same source. The two pamphlets explain rules of eligibility and current benefits under Social Security Amendments of 1967. They answer many questions that will be arising as more and more people become increasingly dependent on government payments and benefits of one kind or another.

Of course, the pamphlets fail to point out that "social security" has become an extremely relative condition for everyone--relative to inflation and the declining value of the dollar as well as the ever-changing rules and regulations of government administrators.

No one in his right mind would attempt to guess what "social security" will mean ten, 15 or 20 years from now. No one even knows with certainty whether the dollar will be an acceptable medium of exchange.

When it comes to "social security," government programs may help, but they will never take the place of individual effort, individual thrift and a good sense of individual responsibility.

REVEALING RESPONSE

State Representative Leon Jordan of Kansas City has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the state's most responsible Negro leaders; only a few have held that Jordan, who commands a political-social organization called Freedom, Inc. has enjoyed too much of a reputation as a responsible spokesman.

Jordan, who has pictured himself as speaking for the vast majority of colored citizens in his area and throughout the state, proved his detractors right last Saturday afternoon when he led a small delegation of his Freedom, Inc. out of the Democratic State Convention when Governor Hearnes took the floor. The Jordan-led walk-out was in protest of the way the state's chief executive handled the recent racial riots in Kansas City.

Jordan's protest was a mockery; his expressed unhappiness with the way in which the National Guard quelled the Kansas City riots is evidence per se of his lack of responsibility.

Governor Hearnes handled the riots in exactly the manner the vast majority of Missourians wanted him to: he met force with force, kept violence to the barest possible minimum, and kept Negro rioters from taking death and destruction into white neighborhoods. By doing so, he protected both white and colored, for there were elements in Kansas City waiting for Negroes to trespass into their neighborhoods. The result would have been a wholesale blood-bath that would have made the famous Kansas City Massacre look like a tea party.

Rep. Jordan's senseless demonstration in Jefferson City clearly demonstrates his leadership void, and it would be well for Missourians to remember that when Leon Jordan attempts to speak for Negroes in the future, he is speaking for a radical element that cares little for law and order.

TIME FOR A MIDDLE-CLASS REVOLT?

Why doesn't somebody pay some attention to the majority? That's where the votes are--and the money.

Who makes up the majority? Well, you can figure it out for yourself. Here are some figures compiled by Richard Scammon, former director of the Census Bureau, and reported by U.S. News & World Report in support of its thesis that a middle-class revolt is brewing:

"More than 78 per cent of the people live in suburbs, small cities and towns and rural areas. Less than 22 per cent live in cities of over 200,000.

"Persons over 35 years old make up more than 70 per cent of the voting age population.

"At least half the 75 million voters who will go to the polls in November will be women.

"The total vote in that election is expected to be 91 to 92 per cent white.

"The 'middle income group'--those earning $7,000 to $15,000--pays about 50 per cent of all U.S. state and local taxes."

As for the average voter he is a 40-year old parent who lives in a suburb or small city or town, is a high school graduate, has a good job, is making payments on a home, and is worried about rising crime government spending, high taxes, and the breakdown in morals.

To listen to some presidential candidates, you'd never know that the majority of voters as cited above were included in his campaign--nor even appealed to. Yet it's this same majority who provide most of the billions that turn the wheels of government.

Maybe it's time for the middle-class revolt and this election year should be a natural--if we have a candidate that the majority can support and elect.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Resurrection City should fold up and go home. It has accomplished some of its goals; House Republicans vote against strict gun controls.

WASHINGTON - For their own good and the good of the country, the poor people's march should now fold up Resurrection City and go home.

In the first place, they have achieved some of their goals. A $5 billion housing bill has been passed; more than $200 million in surplus food has been earmarked.

In the second place, the poor people have reached the point of diminishing returns. If they stay longer, they may hurt what they have accomplished.

No group in years has been treated so generously by the Federal Government, which allowed them to camp on a public park, and by the churches of the city and by most of the residents of Washington. The churches opened up their doors, women made thousands of sandwiches, people contributed blankets. The Hechinger Hardware stores contributed lumber at cost, many grocery chains contributed food.

The Public Park adjacent to the Lincoln Memorial has been churned up by bulldozers and the daily wear of several thousand feet to a point where it will take at least a year to restore the grass. Poor people's marshals, acting with the officiousness which they objected to on the part of Birmingham police, have even barred picture taking, saying, "These are private homes," though of course they are located on land belonging to all the taxpayers.

Negro newsmen have been beaten and pushed around. The Supreme Court, which has done more for racial equality than any institution in history, had its windows broken. The Negro population of Washington has suffered economically because summer business is down, tourism is off. Greyhound bus alone cancelled $200,000 worth of bus trips to Washington. This hunts the Negro population of Washington first. All this has been taken with considerable forbearance by the citizens of Washington. Negro newsmen have been the most critical. "The Washington Post," wrote William Raspberry, widely read Negro columnist of the Washington Post, "Has, if anything, been too kind. If more of the internal strife, lack of control and poor discipline had been reported, there might have been more pressure...to set things right."

Louis Lomax, national Negro columnist, has reported on "Absentee Leadership" of "A City of Chaos" and told of a "Night of violence, disruption and non-leadership that easily could have spilled over into Washington itself."

He reported how "Several carloads of middle-class women, Negro and white, who arrived with food and clothing were brusquely turned away by marshals whose lack of knowledge manifested itself in rudeness and incredible surliness."

Lomax described Resurrection City as "Completely unsafe, a jungle at night." And as early as May 25 he called it a "city falling apart, dangerously so."

It is now June 15 and Resurrection City, abandoned by a majority of the poor people. Should fold up and go home.

CLOSED-DOOR VOTE Despite the assassination of three national leaders in four and a half years, and despite the current clamor by the American people for gun control, an overwhelming majority of Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee voted against a strict gun control law this week.

The vote was behind closed doors so the public could not know how the vote went. However, we can report the roll call.

The twelve Republicans who voted against restrictions on the sale of the instruments of assassination were: William M. McCulloch, Ohio; Richard H. Poff, Va.; Clark

MacGregor, Minn.; Edward Hutchinson, Mich.; Robert McClory, Ill.; Henry P. Smith, Ill. N.Y.; William V. Roth, Jr., Del.; Thomas J. Meskill, Conn.; Charles W. Sandman, Jr., N.J.; Thomas F. Railsback, Ill.; Edward G. Biester, Jr., Pa.; and Charles E. Wiggins, Calif.

Two Democrats voted with the Republicans against gun control as follows: William M. Tuck, Va.; Robert T. Ashmore, S.C.; John Dowdy, Tex.; Basil L. Whitener, N.C.

Two Republicans who voted for gun control were Charles Mathias, who is running for the senate in Maryland, and Arch Moore, who is running for governor of West Virginia. Two Democrats were absent: Edwin Willis, La., and Jack Brooks, Tex.

The bill was relatively weak and did not call for the registration of guns. It merely added along guns to the sale of hand guns which are already regulated in the anti-crime bill.

When the vote was announced 16 to 16, which meant defeat, Rep. McCulloch, the ranking Republican, explained that he was voting "No" because of the too rapid procedure. He wanted more time to debate the bill.

Politely, chairman celler reminded McCulloch that the senate amendments to the crime bill had been rammed down the committee's throat without any debate at all.

"I asked that these amendments be sent back to conference for careful consideration," said the chairman. "The amendments include not only a gun control bill but vitally important amendments affecting rulings of the supreme court. You Republican voted overwhelmingly against proper debate."

No: The Democrats who voted inside the Judiciary Committee for gun control were: Emanuel Celler; Michael Feighan, Ohio; Peter Rodino, N.J.; Byron Rogers, Colo.; Harold Donohue, Mass.; Robert Kastenmeier, Wis.; James Corman, Calif.; Don Edwards, Calif.; William St. Onge, Conn.; William Hungate, Mo.; Herbert Tenzer, N.Y.; John Conyers, Mich.; Andrew Jacobs, Ind.; and Joshua Ellberg, Pa.

DRAKE DEFEATS DIGIT DRABNESS

One of today's problems, for an image-conscious firm, is digit drabness, the Catholic Digest believes. The quiet dignity of the old telephone exchanges, like Murray Hill, for example, has been replaced by something which looks like the serial listing on the base plate of a drill press.

New York's Drake Hotel, however, has discovered that the new numbers can sometimes be impressive if you write them out. The Drake even wrote its own number into an ad head: "Dial 20 billion, one hundred twenty-four million, two hundred, ten thousands, nine hundred."

LESSON ON PEACE FOR MEN, NATIONS

Even the most ferocious animals and reptiles will rarely attack a human being unless they are threatened or provoked.

This assurance comes from a man who ought to know--a doctor who has spent six years in the jungles of Indonesia and the Mountain of the Moon in Uganda.

"When not directly attacked but only threatened, an animal will attempt to warn off the intruder," Dr. Francis M. Shattuck says in an article in the British Medical Journal.

Man, says Dr. Shattuck, is perfectly safe from ferocious beasts and reptiles if he comes in peace.

You have to wonder wistfully if the same thing might not occur among men and nations--if everyone would come in peace.

And the way things are, you have to wonder, too if there will ever be a better time to try it than right now.

union leaders on after another. This is the Kennedy technique and mystique.

Many perhaps almost all, local labor officials never have been called on personally for help by national candidates. Many have just never been talked to person-to-person by national political and labor leaders.

They were flattered. They were charmed. They were convinced. And they turned out some strong legions, not to mention money.

And those of us who heard Ted Kennedy's eulogy at St. Patrick's Cathedral heard a speaker far more effective than either of his late brothers.

Furthermore, even the national labor leadership which fought Bob Kennedy so furiously, now realizes that it will have trouble keeping its own ranks intact. These are splitting. There are influential young labor men who did not march with the anti-Kennedy phalanx.

There is Paul Jennings, young president of the 350,000-member International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

He split with his elders. He swung to Bob Kennedy in Indiana and California. And he doubtlessly will be in the vanguard of any Kennedy convention force.

There are others, some of whom now are switching to Gene McCarthy. Still others such as the anti-war bloc in the men's clothing union, once led by late Sidney Hillman, and the retail trades and packing houses, will defect unless Mr. Humphrey is nominated with Ted Kennedy or another who symbolizes Bob Kennedy.

Nor is the saddened George Meany, America's Mr. Labor, apt to fight young Ted. Few are aware that Mr. Meany had developed a fatherly affection for Jack Kennedy almost as strong as that of Ambassador Joe Kennedy. And as George Meany goes, so does the labor federation. He fought Bob Kennedy for many impersonal reason. But none of these will be sufficed by Ted.

The rhetorical answer to Ted Kennedy's "Who needs it?" could well be the liberal-labor-Democratic coalition. Their front is not as solid as it seems. A heavy percentage is for Nelson Rockefeller; a sizable bloc will vote for George Wallace. And as this column will show shortly, Richard Nixon is running strong among the rank and file too.

So the labor-Democratic alliance can ill afford any defections. Slowly, labor's strategists begin to see Ted Kennedy as the political adhesive -- that is, a mixture of the Kennedy mystique and charisma, defied by a hard core which will follow no one but the Kennedys.

All this has been told to Hubert Humphrey. What comes next may take startling history.

An Editor's Outlook

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

THE NEW MORALITY

In the climatic struggle between Life and Look magazines for the national circulation sweepstakes, we're getting a lot of gee-whiz journalism these days.

One of the lip-smackingest pieces of gee-whizzery appeared in the Life of May 31 and consisted principally of a number of testimonials to the spiritually ennobling effect of college shakups, to be known henceforth, apparently, as "the arrangement."

DR. IRA Reiss of the University of Iowa is quoted as hailing the end of the "double standard" under which the collegiate male was more active sexually than the coed, and he forecast "healthier, more open sexual attitudes."

Dr. William Masters, the Kinsey researcher, forecast "stronger rather than weaker relationships"; and Dr. Joseph Katz of Stanford spoke rather vaguely about "not so much a decline in moral codes as a change in their contents," meaning, apparently, that students who sleep with somebody are of a lot higher class than those who sleep with anybody.

Dean of Students Wally Sikes of Antioch College says: "I feel like asking whose business all this is. Sexual fun and games aren't important here. Much more important, our students are working toward living by a set of values. They have a very ethical approach to life."

All good students want to be ethical. If you can be ethical with fun and games, boy--that's egg in the beer!

AS TO the cohabiting students themselves, Life has been taught that he can have fun and games without such hang-ups as dirty diapers and baby shoes, and if his previous few wanted their names used. As a result, the testimonials had the foggy quality of old patent medicine ads in which Mrs. M. W. of North Dakota allowed as how Chief Muskrat's Electric Oil snatched her away from death's door.

So in Life we read that Patty and Al in New Orleans are so determined not to get "hung up" that neither squawks when the other stays away from the pad all night. Ed and Carol of Berkeley live in the same room with a male friend, but it's quite a proper arrangement because, as Ed says, the friend "uses ear plugs."

A certain UCLA coed asserts that she and her bed companion are not prepared to have children outside marriage.

"I don't care for any kids being illegitimate particularly," said she.

This is a very great sentence and should be engraved on Moses and his laws.

Maybe they will again.

MILLIE at Berkeley says she'd tell Ned she really loves him but it sounds "too Dick-and-Janeish." Presumably their pillow talk is of higher matters, like the Vietnamese war. A Harvard senior describes his arrangement as "a fundamental new consciousness much bigger than morality."

And Laura in San Francisco is apparently just cuddly "living together," she claims, "is nice on Sunday mornings when you have nothing to do."

Life magazine is a powerful advertising medium, and after these warm endorsements the incidence of college bundling ought to go up 300%. When you mix urge with holy rationalization, you're bound to get a lot of action.

WITH THE pill and penicillin, the old deterrents of pregnancy and venereal disease can be handled, and no one seems to believe in hell any more. So the Minnesota coed who last year said she considered intercourse a mere social gesture like shaking hands naturally drew a great deal of male interest.

The only possible trouble is that marriage was invented as a sort of price for "fun and games." Until the Great Society came along with subsidies for casual children, the male was supposed to acknowledge his responsibilities and labor in the vineyard to support those whom he begot.

People who have no intention to beget might sleep around without benefit of clergy, but after a while most women get very broody and want real children.

If the male, in the meantime, has been taught that he can have fun and games without such hang-ups as dirty diapers and baby shoes, and if his previous few wanted their names used. As a result, the testimonials had the foggy quality of old patent medicine ads in which Mrs. M. W. of North Dakota allowed as how Chief Muskrat's Electric Oil snatched her away from death's door.

WHAT really looms is the emasculation of the male -- a distressing weakness of much of America's ghetto society -- in which the living-in of the man without the responsibilities of husbandhood has contributed to a chaotic social condition.

The "new morality" dates back at least to the cult of Ishtar, where the temple prostitutes provided "the fundamental new consciousness, bigger than morality." But after the boys had danced around the Golden calf for a while, things were in such a mess that the women began to holler for Moses and his laws.

Gramp, you've always been a sorter jackleg hist-torn and noticed little things along life's pathway. Have you siphoned out how come the teenagers is takin over all over?

Yept. They inherited that admirably qualification. Aw shux, Gramp, come down often cloud nine and talk biz.

That's zacky what I'm doin. You ask for it. About 1 1/2 or two generations ago their mas musta decided to take over our nation regardless of heck and or highwater so's they organized and made it so uncomfortable for the males they got a green light to vote. Then they seen what party politics was doin and decided to remain aloof from all parties and vote their sentiment. That give em control of our nation lock stock and barrel. The kids seen how easy it was to take over mens jobs and decided to enjoy sin for a season themselves, and the lawmakers smartin over gittin outsmarted by the weaker sex, started to make laws to make life miserable as possible for all and now they are facin deep trouble from all mankind. Apparently they have also enjoyed sin for a season by takin over our nation raisin wages, their own taxes, makin war and what have you, wid no regard for the wishes of the people, so's the kids has decided to have a say or else.

Dad-gum, if you aint got some good pints there.

Skins Welcome Beban, Fischer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Beban, the 1967 Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, couldn't come to terms with the Los Angeles Rams but he certainly talks the language of the Washington Redskins and Kathy Hanson.

Beban has a couple of new contracts today—one with the Redskins, the other with the former Miss Hanson, who he married in Alhambra, Calif., Friday.

About seven hours before the couple were married, the Redskins announced they had acquired the rights to negotiate with Beban from the Rams in a trade for their 1969 No. 1 draft choice.

Club President Edward Bennett Williams said Beban had agreed to terms—something he couldn't do with Los Angeles. He'll sign Monday.

The Redskins, who also announced the signing of St. Louis defensive back Pat Fischer, were enthused with the acquisition of Beban, even though it gives them five quarterbacks—veterans Sonny Jurgensen and Jim Ninozzi and rookies Beban, Harry Theofiles and Danny Talbott.

Fischer, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound seven-year veteran, is expected to strengthen the Redskins in an area where they've had problems.

The Redskins owe St. Louis a player for Fischer, who played out his option. Commissioner Pete Rozelle will decide who they must give since the two layer.

The World Champion Cardinals, constantly on the lookout for new diamond talent, will sponsor baseball tryouts in Paducah, Kentucky, on June 25 and 26, it was announced today by Farm Director George Silvey.

This is a once-in-a-summer opportunity for the young players in the area to get in on all the action at Brooks Stadium, where the tryouts will start each day at 10: A.M. under the direction of veteran Red Bird scout W. H. "Buddy" Lewis.

Any player between 16 and 22 is welcome to take part in the tryouts. He should bring his glove, shoes and a uniform if he has one. All other equipment will be supplied by the Cardinals.

"The search today for the Cardinal diamond greats of tomorrow goes on," Silvey remarked. "We have a reputation or molding players with potential into major leaguers, and these tryouts could mean the start of a rewarding professional career for someone. Many players have broken into baseball the tryout camp way."

No fee is charged to participate in the tryouts. A player signed to a contract will be reimbursed for the expenses he incurs incident to the tryouts.

"We'll be looking for hustling, Cardinal-type players for our seven-club farm system," Silvey went on. "We have a topnotch staff of dedicated managers and instructors, too, ever ready to give the newcomers the benefit of their experience and baseball know-how. A player with the tools has everything going for him in our organization and you can be sure he'll reach the big time as quickly as his ability warrants. These tryouts could be a dream-come-true for someone and we're counting on a good turnout."

To take part an American Legion player must have a letter of approval from either his Legion Coach or Post Commander.

The sport of shotgun shooting at clay birds takes many forms. It ranges from the simplest sort of popping at clay targets tossed from a hand target and the more imaginative variations simulating the flight of game birds under hunting field conditions to the well regulated competitive contests in trap and skeet.

In all its forms, it is estimated that more than 350-million clay targets are fired at by shotgun shooters every year, a figure that shows an average yearly increase of approximately ten per cent since 1955.

As participation sports, trap and skeet represent the two forms of clay target shooting best suited to recreational shooting facilities capable of accommodating great numbers of participants safely and efficiently.

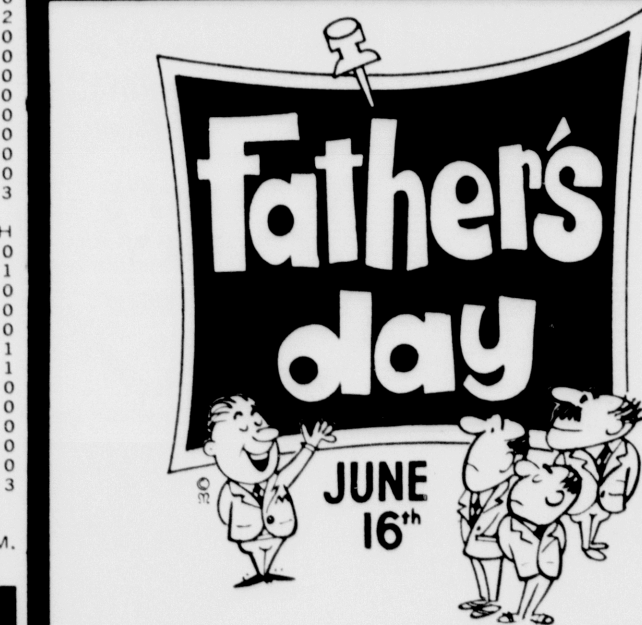

The Amateur Trapshooting Association, Vandalia, Ohio - regulating body for Trapshooting in America - has a membership of approximately 37,000 persons - exclusive of its permanent roster of 8,000 life members, about half of whom are active shooters. In 1967, 3,732 registered shoots were conducted under ATA regulations. Affiliated with the ATA are more than 843 gun clubs.

The regulating body for skeet shooting in America is the National Skeet Shooting Association, Dallas, Tex. Its 1967 membership totalled 15,521 shooters. In 1967, 2,204 registered shoots and 108 international-style shoots were held under N S S A regulations. Gun Clubs affiliated with the N S S A number approximately 600.

Chaffee beat Scott Central 4-3 in a baseball game Thursday at Morley. The game went ten innings. Chaffee got six hits and Scott Central nine. Morris Karnes was the losing pitcher for Scott Central. Bloomfield will play at Morley on Monday.

Reds Shell Cardinals Harrelson Shows Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds can afford to have pitcher Gerry Arrigo hurting the way his replacement, Billy McCool, is pitching.

SIU Goes Against

USC For Series Title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Southern California takes a perfect tourney record against Southern Illinois in the College World Series finals tonight because Bob Vaughn, the team's forgotten ace, came off the injury list with a shutout.

If USC goes on to its fifth NCAA baseball crown, Vaughn's 20 six-hitter over North Carolina State Friday night will be the key to the title.

It enabled Coach Rod Dedeaux to come back with a rested pitching rotation, starting with left-hander Bill Lee, the ace of the staff the last month with a 6-0 record and 1.40 earned run mark.

Southern Illinois also is ready with a rested rotation, starting with Jerry Bench and Leo Cardenas produced one run. Mack Jones pinch hit for McCool (33) and singled in the second run off Wayne Granger, who just entered the game.

Pete Rose added the fifth consecutive single for another run. Then Jones was safe on a steal of home when the ball popped out of catcher Tim McCarver's glove.

Vada Pinson started things rolling in the eighth with a single off Mikkelsen. Alex Johnson added a single, shortstop Dal Maxvill added an error and a wild pitch and an infield out added the three runs. Only one of the runs was earned.

The loss didn't hurt the Cardinals in the standings, though, thanks to Atlanta and San Francisco losses and Los Angeles' split in its double header. The Redbirds are still four game ahead of the Giants and the Dodgers.

Bob Gibson (65) puts his string of 20 consecutive scoreless innings on the line tonight against the Reds' Gary Nolan (20).

In the American League Ken Harrelson turned on three times as much power as Don Wert, but he couldn't have short-circuited Cleveland more completely than Wert did the bullpen Friday night for his second start of the season when Arrigo came up lame with a sore thigh. And lefty McCool came through with a 7-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. He got help from Ted Abernathy who finished up and combined for a three-hitter.

The Reds singled across four runs in the seventh inning, all of them charged to loser Larry Jaster (53). Then they added three more in the eighth off reliever Pete Mikkelsen.

Lee May started the four-run burst with a single. Singles by Johnny Bench and Leo Cardenas produced one run. Mack Jones pinch hit for McCool (33) and singled in the second run off Wayne Granger, who just entered the game.

Pete Rose added the fifth consecutive single for another run. Then Jones was safe on a steal of home when the ball popped out of catcher Tim McCarver's glove.

In the American League Ken Harrelson turned on three times as much power as Don Wert, but he couldn't have short-circuited Cleveland more completely than Wert did the first-round loser to NC State, bombed a werry St. John's staff for 20 hits and eliminated the New York team 15-0 the most lopsided shutout in series history. Howard Nickason pitched a threehitter for SIU.

Chicago White Sox. Wert, a little slower pulling the switch, waited until the 13th inning before blasting his seventh home run that brought the American League-leading Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the White Sox Friday night.

Harrelson held off until only the fifth inning before beginning a barrage of three consecutive homers that drove in seven runs and surged the Boston Red Sox by the Indians 7-2.

The rest of the league's hitters remained mostly grounded as Minnesota trimmed Baltimore 2-1 on infield hits, infield outs and a wild pitch and errors helped California past Washington 2-0 and the New York Yankees by Oakland 5-4 in 10 innings.

Other National League action the Chicago Cubs tripped Atlanta 2-1, the New York Mets beat San Francisco 7-3 and Los Angeles shut out Philadelphia 6-0 before losing 2-1 in a two-night doubleheader.

Wert, not noted as a power hitter at 5-foot-9, 165 pounds and only six homers all of last season, kept the juice flowing through the red-hot Tigers by wipping out the White Sox as the first hitter in the 14th.

The victory was the fifth straight and 10th in 11 games as the Tigers expanded their league lead to 6 1/2 games over Baltimore.

They almost burned themselves out in the 13th after taking a 5-4 lead against loser Bob Priddy, 0-3, on Bill Freehan's run-scoring hit. Luis Aparicio beat out a hit for the Sox in the 13th, stole second, took third on a sacrifice and scored on an infield out, and Chicago had the winning run on second base before Detroit retired the side.

The Tigers got into extra innings in the first place when Earl Wilson, making his first start since injuring a heel May 24, capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning with a three-run homer.

The White Sox had taken a 4-0 lead with a brief and surprising show of power as Tom McCraw hit a three-run homer.

LIFE'S A LAUGH for "Coconut," three-year-old son of "Coco," the circus clown. Just to prove he's a chip off the old block, "Coconut," with an assist from dad, dons oversized shoes, make-up and wig to become a pint-sized version of his father. Looks as though life is going to be a lot of laughs for him and many, many others.

All Eyes Still on Legs

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Whether skirts wander from mini heights, skim the knees or hover at mid-calf, focus is still on legs for summer.

The habit of commencing costume planning by choosing color for the legs seems to be captivating women all over the country. One novel evidence of this phenomenon is recent nationwide sale of Jet-setter, a zippered vinyl suit case filled with 24 multicolored pairs of panty hose, each in a convenient pigeonhole. This was originally designed as an eye-catching display and not as an item for sale.

"Americans are far ahead of Europeans in adventurous use of color on the legs," said Betty Curry, fashion director of Burlington, who has just completed a leg-fashion-checking tour of Europe.

"The British are ahead of Americans in universal enthusiasm for panty hose, but are just beginning to experiment with a wider range of color in their leg fashions."

Some confusion has been caused, Miss Curry believes, by the British use of "midi" to denote mid-high skirts which Americans call "mini." In Britain the mid-calf length is called "maxi," but it is not seen much except in coats for fall.

"Youth dominates fashion trends in all countries and to fulfill the youth spirit, knees must be free for action," noted Miss Curry. "We predict that the mid-calf skirt for daytime will be obsolete just as the granny quickly disappeared."

The summer lace textures are hosiery favorites, in tune with fashion's pretty-girl look. And for daytime drama, there's a three-colored textured panty hose that's in the dashing mood of Bonnie and Clyde.

Stamps In The News

Dominica, a Caribbean island enjoying associated statehood with Great Britain, has honored International Human Rights Year with five new commemoratives. The stamps portray famous individuals who have been recognized for their roles in the field of civil rights and human dignity.

The 1 cent depicts John F. Kennedy, 10 cents Cecil L.A. Rogers (a pioneer in the fight for freedom in the West Indies), 12 cents Pope John XXIII, 48 cents Florence Nightingale, 60 cents Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Each stamp also bears the royal emblem of Queen Elizabeth II and the symbol of the United Nations.

United Nations Human Rights Year. Dominica, also known as Sunday Island, was discovered by Columbus on Nov. 3, 1494. The French and British fought fiercely for the island for some 200 years until the latter won. The first Dominican stamps appeared in 1874 during the reign of Queen Victoria.

Iran has issued four new stamp sets, two of which honor the visits of rulers of other nations. A 6 rial is dedicated to the visit of King Hassan of Morocco and a similar denomination hails the arrival of President Tito of Yugoslavia. The other sets commemorate the 5th International Congress of Iranian Art and Archeology, and the Human Rights Conference in Tehran.

Joining the young nations is Turkey, which has issued two sets of stamps dedicated to its judicial history. One set of two stamps commemorates the centenary of its Court of Appeals. Designs show a portrait of Mehmed Pacha, first president of the court, a law book and a tree branch. The other set of two honors the 100th anniversary of its Supreme Court. Illustrated are scales of justice and a portrait of Cevdet Pasa, first president of that highest law body.

FARM WEDDING in Sussex, England, utilized appropriate means of transportation. Peter Hague and his bride, the former Susanne Stoddard, are driven from church to reception in a combine harvester.

Three Texans were discussing what they'd do if they inherited a million dollars. The minister in the group said he would build a new church and invest some to insure the minister's salary against an empty collection plate. The banker said he would lend it to farmers at seven or eight percent interest and make another million in 10 years or less. The farmer thought about it a minute and concluded: "I reckon I would just go on farming as long as it lasted."

The best-kept secret of the Vietnamese war, an allied offensive against the Ashau valley Communist stronghold has been under way since mid-April. The valley, a major staging area and supply route 2,000 feet above sea level and bordered by mountain peaks, varies from 600 feet to five miles in width and runs 25 miles from the Laotian border to central Vietnam's coastal plain, within 15 miles of embattled Hue. U.S. commanders call the Communist-built road through the valley a "superhighway."

If You Were the Judge

Candidate's Promise
Of Job Invalid

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

During a political campaign, honest John allegedly promised Herbie a political job if Herbie would work to help him get elected mayor. And, Herbie worked like a beaver. Consequently, when John was elected and no job was forthcoming, Herbie took a dim view of John's by-passing him. In fact, he sued him for fraud and deceit.

"After all the hands I shook in his behalf," Herbie told the judge, "the Mayor is now trying to shake me. The fact is, he never intended to give me a job. His only intention was to trick me into working for him."

"While I admit he worked hard for me," was the Mayor's answer, "I never really promised him a job. He worked for the good of the party."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the Mayor pay Herbie for breaking his promise? This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that while he sympathized with Herbie, a candidate's promise to reward a person with a political government job in exchange for his campaign efforts is against public policy and void.

some fields will cut down the average yield per acre, and in general early returns indicate yields will be below average.

The county average is around 38 to 40 bushels in normal seasons.

One elevator operator told this newspaper that one customer had reported 41 bushels per acre, but added "this may be an exception."

Most of the wheat will probably be placed in the loan with the price pegged at $1.36.

Ann Landers

Long Life Chances Improve

Dear Ann Landers: What is this world coming to? It seems like the only place a person is safe anymore is in his grave. Last fall an airliner crashed into a row of houses and a dozen people were killed in their living rooms or asleep in their beds.

Several weeks ago a mother in Miami was walking in a park with two little children -- one a baby in a carriage. A drunk driver drove up the corner turn and moved up on the sidewalk and killed the mother and the baby.

Yesterday a neighbor told me her cousin's children were playing in their own backyard when a pack of wild dogs jumped the hedge and almost tore the children apart.

Every day we read of senseless killings on the streets of the big cities -- in broad daylight, and often with onlookers who did nothing to help the victim.

I am a teen-ager who is wondering if people are safe anywhere. Please give me some encouragement. I am -- OLD BEFORE MY TIME

Dear Old: Life today is somewhat more hazardous because (1) there are more people and they are living closer together. (2) There are more ways for people to get killed due to technological "progress." (3) More nuts have guns than ever before which means more people are going to be shot.

Yet in spite of all this, the insurance actuaries show that every male born in 1967 can expect to reach 68 years of age. Every female can expect to live at least three years longer. Medical science is largely responsible for lengthening the life span.

So stop worrying. Your chances today are actually better than ever. Besides, worry can shorten your life.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine asked me to drive down to the courthouse with her so she could "straighten around" her driver's license. It seems that when Polly renewed her license her hair was dark brown. She is now an ash blonde.

Polly took her license out of her purse and I noticed she had given her age as 48. I happen to know she is 53. When I called this "error" to her attention she replied, "I don't think it's anybody's business how old I am."

It occurred to me that Polly might get into trouble if it were discovered she gave a false age. What about this? --GLENVIEW, ILLINOIS

Dear Glen: State laws vary,

but in Illinois, if a person knowingly makes a false statement when applying for a license he may suddenly find his license revoked.

More and more (thank heaven) state laws are being passed which require that everyone over 68 years of age take an examination in order to get his driver's license renewed. This makes it imperative that people be truthful about their age.

Confidential to Tired Of Love: What you are tired of isn't love. He sounds like a dingbat and you sound a little cuckoo yourself.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"I started out just cutting classes. And at first it was a lot of fun. There's only one trouble. The jobs that kids who quit school can get only pay about $50 or $60 a week. With no chance of promotion. But just imagine you were a boss. Who would you promote? Drop-outs? Or people with education? So I pulled myself together. Went back to class full time. And finished school. I can't say I had a ball. But a couple of hard years in school are a lot better than a long hard life without it."

VIVIAN MUNERA

Based on an interview taped April 8, 1967

To get a good job, you need a good education. So if you're in school, stay there. If you've quit, find out how to get more training. See your State Employment Service or Youth Opportunity Center.

Spock, 3 Others Found Guilty

BOSTON (AP) — Baby wanted to bring before the court doctor Benjamin Spock, Yale were never argued. That's the University Chaplain William legality and constitutionality of Sloan Coffin Jr., and two others have been convicted of conspiracy to counsel young men to evade the draft. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

"My main defense," Spock said, "was that I believed a citizen must work against a war he feels is contrary to the international law. The court has decided to feel differently."

After the conviction Friday night by an all-male federal jury, Spock's counsel, Leonard Boudin, and defense attorneys for the other three said there would be an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The four men were expected to carry their appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, as part of their opposition to the Vietnam war.

Convicted with Coffin and the 6-year-old pediatrician were Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student, and Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine.

Marcus Raskin, 34, a Washington research director, was found innocent by the jury after seven hours and 20 minutes of deliberation. The trial began May 28 and lasted four weeks.

Raskin walked from the 12th floor courtroom in federal courthouse, his head down and tears in his eyes.

"I feel very good for myself," he said in a choked voice, "and badly for the others."

Raskin's lawyer, Calvin Bartlett, maintained during the trial that Raskin was not part of any conspiracy and barely knew his co-defendants.

U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford ordered Spock and the other three freed in personal recognizance until sentencing on July 10. They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $50,000 fines.

The jury, in a list of findings on specific charges made in the indictment, found that Spock and the other three conspired to counsel, aid and abet Selective Service registrants to refuse or evade duties under the Selective Service Act.

"My belief has always been," Coffin said, "that the issues we wanted to bring before the court were never argued. That's the legality and constitutionality of the war and the draft. Perhaps the appeals level is the place to do it."

Later, at a news conference on the first floor of the courthouse Coffin added, "I speak for all. If this is a conspiracy, we have the lightning bug confused with the lightning."

Coffin added he was "absolutely delighted" that Raskin was acquitted and described the acquittal as "an important victory for the First Amendment," which guarantees free speech.

"If the jury had found all five of us guilty there would have been the danger of an epidemic of indictments against people who are protesting the draft and the war."

Ferber also said it was "important that one of us was found innocent."

"Marc got off and he certainly should have," Ferber said. "He felt worse than the rest of us, because of the solidarity that has grown up between us since our indictment. We all thought it would have been good to stand or fall together."

Goodman, his arm around his wife Denise, told newsmen: "The Vietnam war is an overwhelming atrocity which is dishonoring our country. My feeling remains that a man has to live by his conscience."

Judge Ford had ruled that the legality of the Vietnam war and of Selective Service laws were not issues in the case.

After they left the courthouse, Spock and his wife Jane, the Goodmans, Ferber and a number of defense lawyers went to a cocktail lounge. When Spock danced with his wife there was applause and cheering.

In its findings on the indictment returned last January, the jury found that the four conspired to hinder and interfere with the administration of the Selective Service Act.

The jury found that the four did not "counsel" registrants to neglect to carry Selective Service registration certificates and draft classification notices, but found they conspired to aid and abet such actions.

B52s Pour 150 Tons of Bombs on Viet Cong Infiltration Routes in Saigon Vicinity

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded Viet Cong infiltration routes around Saigon with 150 tons of bombs today, as the enemy shelled several cities and allied positions and ground forces engaged in sharp clashes.

The rolling thunder of the 300-pound bombs was clearly heard in the capital as the bombers made two strikes about 17 miles northwest of the city.

Twenty enemy mortar rounds hit the southern fringe of Saigon, wounding two policemen and six South Vietnamese civilians. About 60 Chinese-made 107 mm rockets struck the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles north of Saigon, but U.S. spokesmen said they inflicted no casualties or damage.

Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc reported sharp fighting in suburban Gia Dinh, where South Vietnamese troops tried to root out guerrillas in bunkers. He said the irregulars failed to dislodge the enemy. A South Vietnamese lieutenant was killed and two American advisors were among 17 wounded.

A government spokesman said South Vietnamese paratroopers killed 30 Viet Cong and suffered three wounded in an engagement through a string of hamlets five miles northeast of Saigon.

Forty-eight North Vietnamese regulars were killed in two actions near the demilitarized zone.

Marines of the U.S. 33d Regimental Landing Team counted 21 bodies after repulsing an enemy charge on their night position southwest of Da Nang. Three marines were wounded.

Near the South China Sea, other U.S. Marines pinned down a band of North Vietnamese and the cruiser USS Boston was called in to shell the enemy position. A U.S. spokesman said 27 enemy soldiers were killed.

While allied troops fanned out within the enemy's seven-mile rocket range of Saigon looking for firing sites, enemy gunners zeroed in on supply points, training camps and civilian targets.

The U.S. Marine command reported that 22 of the enemy's 122 mm rockets hit the supply base northwest of Da Nang, inflicting light to moderate damage. Fifty artillery rounds inflicted light damage on the Cua Viet supply point six miles below the demilitarized zone.

Infantry training centers at Quang Ngai and Chau Doc were mortared and light casualties were reported. Mortar rounds also slammed into the Quang Ngai City airport, killing one civilian and wounding 20 others.

At Can Tho guerrillas fired four mortar rounds into a rice mill, killing four civilians and wounding four others.

A Viet Cong party raided the Vinh Tho refugee camp 15 miles south of Da Nang and abducted 60 persons after setting fire to 20 tents. A U.S. spokesman said the civilians presumably would be used as a labor force.

North Vietnamese shore batteries fired on the Australian destroyer Hobart and the American destroyer Chandler when the two warships shelled a highway bridge 11 miles southeast of Dong Hoi. Neither vessel was hit.

U.S. officials said allied soldiers searching for rocket sites around Saigon have found more rockets than have been fired at the city. Since Jan. 23 they said, about 267 rockets have hit the city, and in the same period allied forces have found 304 of the six-foot rockets in enemy ammunition caches.

Vanlandingham Plans to Seek Sales Tax Hike

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. A. Basye Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, plans to introduce a one-cent, four-year sales tax increase in the 1969 legislature. The tax would be earmarked for capital improvements at state colleges and other institutions. Vanlandingham said this would free enough general revenue to provide needed increases in state aid under the school foundation program.

A one-cent sales tax increase at the present rate of collecting the existing three-cent tax would produce about $85 million a year.

Vanlandingham is chairman of a special legislative committee which is studying school financial problems.

Bonn Hints Reprisals To Travel Slowdown

BERLIN (AP) — With new threats rumbling out of East Germany Bonn authorities today planned ways to pressure the Soviet Union into stopping East Germany's slowdown of traffic to West Berlin.

Mention of "new and unpleasant surprises" from East Berlin spurred the West German government into seeking talks with allied governments on ways to ease the newly imposed travel restrictions—including the possibility of threatening to refuse to sign the U.N. treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

The treaty, passed Wednesday by the U.N. General Assembly, was drafted jointly by the United States and the Soviet Union.

Observers believe a threat to not sign it would push the Soviets into action with its East German ally because Moscow has voiced strong objections to a nuclear armed West Germany.

Refusing to sign would leave the door open for the West Germans to arm themselves at any time.

Three were admitted to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital Friday:

Leora Newman, Sikeston, fell at home hitting head on concrete; Tommy Dean McNew, Morehouse, stuck right foot in bicycle spoke and Billie Carlos Taylor, Sikeston, hit finger with hammer.

Berlin was slowed again today by the new visa restrictions imposed by the East German regime Thursday. Police said the traffic jam started before dawn and cars were lined up for up to four miles on the West Berlin side of the East German border waiting to be processed through an autobahn crossing point.

West Germany called home its ambassador to Moscow on Friday. The move coincided with an editorial in the official East German Communist party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, warning that "there will be new and unpleasant surprises" for West Germany as long as it refuses to recognize the East Berlin government.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Republican governors have adopted a resolution urging their party to heed their advice on campaign issues—and today, they are trying to agree on what that advice should be.

While they sought agreement on items they would like included in the GOP platform, the governors were not making any suggestions on a candidate to run on it.

The platform—not the candidates—was the announced business of the Republican Governors Association conference which brought 20 of the 26 GOP state leaders to Tulsa.

They met on platform questions Friday but did not reach agreement on any specific positions. They adopted a resolution urging the platform committee of the GOP national convention "to draw heavily upon the material developed" by the governors.

The material is a 54-inch-thick stack of working papers, including a series of suggested solutions to domestic problems which stir disagreement.

Among these suggestions was a series of new civil rights measures dealing with open housing, racial balance in the schools and fair employment. In addition, the document compiled by the governors' association suggests an income maintenance program for Americans unable to work, and guaranteed employment, by the government if necessary, for those who can.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said the suggestions were not endorsed by the governors, only accepted as a starting point.

The document grew out of staff studies and a series of platform hearings held by the GOP governors.

There was discord on the question of gun control legislation.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, chairman of the governor's policy committee, advocated strict gun registration; Babcock disagreed.

So did California Gov. Ronald Reagan. He told a news conference he favors measures to keep guns out of the hands of criminals and mentally disturbed, but opposed universal registration.

"SOCIAL SECURITY"
By mailing 10 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office Washington, D. C., anyone may obtain a copy of a pamphlet on "Recent Improvements In Your Social Security." For another 10 cents a copy of another pamphlet entitled "Recent Improvements In Medicare" may be obtained from the same source. The two pamphlets explain rules of eligibility and current benefits under Social Security Amendments of 1967. They answer many questions that will be arising as more and more people become increasingly dependent on government payments and benefits of one kind or another.

Of course, the pamphlets fail to point out that "social security" has become an extremely relative condition for everyone—relative to inflation and the declining value of the dollar as well as the ever-changing rules and regulations of government administrators.

No one in his right mind would attempt to guess what "social security" will mean ten, 15 or 20 years from now. No one even knows with certainty whether the dollar will be an acceptable medium of exchange.

When it comes to "social security," government programs may help, but they will never take the place of individual effort, individual thrift and a good sense of individual responsibility.

REVEALING RESPONSE

State Representative Leon Jordan of Kansas City has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the state's most responsible Negro leaders; only a few have held that Jordan, who commands a political-social organization called Freedom, Inc. has enjoyed too much of a reputation as a responsible spokesman.

Jordan, who has pictured himself as speaking for the vast majority of colored citizens in his area and throughout the state, proved his detractors right last Saturday afternoon when he led a small delegation of his Freedom, Inc. out of the Democratic State Convention when Governor Hearnes took the floor. The Jordan-led walk-out was in protest of the way the state's chief executive handled the recent racial riots in Kansas City.

Jordan's protest was a mockery; he expressed unhappiness with the way in which the National Guard quelled the Kansas City riots is evidence per se of his lack of responsibility.

Governor Hearnes handled the riots in exactly the manner the vast majority of Missourians wanted him to: he met force with force, kept violence to the barest possible minimum, and kept Negro rioters from taking death and destruction into white neighborhoods. By doing so, he protected both white and colored, for there were elements in Kansas City waiting for Negroes to trespass into their neighborhoods. The result would have been a wholesale blood-bath that would have made the famous Kansas City Massacre look like a tea party.

Rep. Jordan's senseless demonstration in Jefferson City clearly demonstrates his leadership void, and it would be well for Missourians to remember that when Leon Jordan attempts to speak for Negroes in the future, he is speaking for a radical element that cares little for law and order.

TIME FOR A MIDDLE-CLASS REVOLT?

Why doesn't somebody pay some attention to the majority? That's where the votes are—and the money.

Who makes up the majority?
Well, you can figure it out for yourself. Here are some figures compiled by Richard Scammon, former director of the Census Bureau, and reported by U.S. News & World Report in support of its thesis that a middle-class revolt is brewing:

"More than 78 per cent of the people live in suburbs, small cities and towns and rural areas. Less than 22 per cent live in cities of over 200,000.

"Persons over 35 years old make up more than 70 per cent of the voting age population.

"At least half the 75 million voters who will go to the polls in November will be women.

"The total vote in that election is expected to be 91 to 92 per cent white.

"The 'middle income group'—those earning $7,000 to $15,000—pays about 50 per cent of all U.S. state and local taxes."

As for the average voter he is a 40-year old parent who lives in a suburb or small city or town, is a high school graduate, has a good job, is making payments on a home, and is worried about rising crime government spending, high taxes, and the breakdown in morals.

To listen to some presidential candidates, you'd never know that the majority of voters as cited above were included in his campaign—nor even appealed to. Yet it's this same majority who provide most of the billions that turn the wheels of government.

Maybe it's time for the middle-class revolt and this election year should be a natural—if we have a candidate that the majority can support and elect.

Four Democrats voted with the Republicans against gun control as follows:

William M. Tuck, Va.; Robert T. Ashmore, S.C.; John Dowdy, Tex.; Basil L. Whitener, N.C.

Two Republicans who voted for gun control were Charles Mathias, who is running for the senate in Maryland, and Arch Moore, who is running for governor of West Virginia. Two Democrats were absent: Edwin Willis, La., and Jack Brooks, Tex.

The bill was relatively weak and did not call for the registration of guns. It merely added along guns "the sale of hand guns which are already regulated in the anti-crime bill.

When the vote was announced 16 to 16, which meant defeat, Rep. McCulloch, the ranking Republican, explained that he was voting "NO" because of the too rapid procedure. He wanted more time to debate the bill.

Politely, chairman Heller reminded McCulloch that the senate amendments to the crime bill have been rammed down the committee's throat without any debate at all.

"I asked that these amendments be sent back to conference for careful consideration," said the chairman. "The amendments include not only a gun control bill but vitally important amendments affecting rulings of the supreme court. You Republican voted overwhelmingly against proper debate."

Noe: The Democrats who voted inside the Judiciary Committee for gun control were: Emanuel Celler, Michael Feighan, Ohio; Peter Rodino, N.J.; Byron Rogers, Colo.; Harold Donohue, Mass.; Robert Kastenmeier, Wis.; James Corman, Calif.; Don Edwards, Calif.; William St. Onge, Conn.; William Hungate, Mo.; Herbert Tenzer, N.Y.; John Conyers, Mich.; Andrew Jacobs, Ind.; and Joshua Ellberg, Pa.

DRAKE DEFEATS DIGIT DRABNESS
One of today's problems, for an image-conscious firm, is digit drabness, the Catholic Digest believes. The quiet dignity of the old telephone exchanges, like Murray Hill, for example, has been replaced by something which looks like the serial listing on the base plate of a drill press.

New York's Drake Hotel however, has discovered that the new numbers can sometimes be impressive if you write them out. The Drake even wrote its own number into an ad head: "Dial two billion, one hundred twenty-four million, two hundred ten thousands, nine hundred."

LESSON ON PEACE FOR MEN, NATIONS
Even the most ferocious animals and reptiles will rarely attack a human being unless they are threatened or provoked.

This assurance comes from a man who ought to know—a doctor who has spent six years in the jungles of Indonesia and the Mountain of the Moon in Uganda.

"When not directly attacked but only threatened, an animal will attempt to warn off the intruder," Dr. Francis M. Shattuck says in an article in the British Medical Journal.

Man, says Dr. Shattuck, is perfectly safe from ferocious beasts and reptiles—if he comes in peace.

You have to wonder wistfully if the same thing might not occur among men and nations—if everyone would come in peace.

And the way things are, you have to wonder, too if there will ever be a better time to try it than right now.

That's zacky what I'm doin. You ask for it. About 1½ or two generations ago their mas musta decided to take over our nation regardless of heck and or highwater so's they organized and made it so uncomfortable for the males they got a green light to vote. Then they seen what party politicks was doin and decided to remain aloof from all parties and vote their sentiment. That give em control of our nation lock stock and barrel. The kids seen how easy it was to take over mens jobs and decided to enjoy sin for a season themselves, and the lawmakers smartin over gittin outsmarted by the weaker sex, started to make laws to make life miserable as possible for all and now they are facin deep trouble from all mankind. Apparently they have also enjoyed sin for a season by takin over our nation raisin wages, their own taxes, makin war and what have you, wid no regard for the wishes of the people, so's the kids has decided to have a say or else.

Next of Clan: Labor Leaders Pushing Ted Kennedy for Vice Presidential nomination.

New York: -- Shortly after the long day's journey into night, one of the plagued Kennedy clan asked the pain-kicked Ted Kennedy what now, will it be a push for national office.

"Who needs it?" retorted the weary surviving brother. "Who needs anything now?"

But by last Tuesday afternoon conditioned political reflexes reassessed themselves among the Kennedy pros. They met in the family communication center, brother-in-law Steve Smith's office at 200 Park Ave.

Sorrow hung heavy. But so did politics.

Moody Steve Smith, angry and crackling, seemed raring to go as he talked with Ted Sorensen, Bill vanden Heuvel, John Burns and others of the inner corps and core.

It is years too early to talk of Ted Kennedy for president, "too dynastic" was the phrase. But no on shied from contemplating an eventual push for the vice presidency.

The pledged delegates would be held together and would make a convention for a party platform which would not only subscribe to Bob Kennedy's policies, but also ascribe them to him.

Campaign literature would go out. A fight would be made against the ideological enemies. The Bob Kennedy for President plant would be dismantled but not the establishment's nationwide Kennedy action corps. Later some of the inner circle will set out to see what Ted Kennedy's prospects are.

Inside labor, the brother's chances are escalating. A long series of conversations held by this columnist with national leaders forces one conclusion -- they'd take young Ted as a vice presidential running mate with Hubert Humphrey.

"It's in the air," said one policy making labor chief whose funds, manpower and tactical genius long have been campaign staples for Democratic victories.

A Humphrey-Kennedy ticket would not alienate the South any more than Sen. John Sparkman alienated the North by running with Stevenson, or Johnson did in '60.

Virtually no one on the Labor Committee for Humphrey, whose strategists met last Wednesday in Washington, vetoed the 36-year-old senior Senator from Massachusetts. The labor men, unwilling to talk publicly so soon after the killing, are sending their people into Maryland, Indiana, Nebraska and California to take a reading on Bob Kennedy's committed delegates. Some labor leaders asked if Ted was a campaigner.

And it was recalled that he had come into Indiana, sat at the telephones and called local union leaders on after another. This is the Kennedy technique and mystique.

Many perhaps almost all, local labor officials never have been called on personally for help by national candidates. Many have just never been talked to person-to-person by national political and labor leaders.

They were flattered. They were charmed. They were convinced. And they turned out some strong legions, not to mention money.

And those of us who heard Ted Kennedy's eulogy at St. Patrick's Cathedral heard a speaker far more effective than either of his late brothers.

Furthermore, even the national labor leadership which fought Bob Kennedy so furiously, now realizes that i will have trouble keeping its own ranks intact. These are splitting labor men who did not march with the anti-Kennedy phalanx. There is Paul Jennings, your president of the 350,000-member International Union of Electrical Worker AFL-CIO.

He split with his elders. I swung to Bob Kennedy Indiana and California. And I doubtless will be in the vanguard of any Kenne convention force.

There are others, some whom now are switching. Gene McCarthy. Still others su as the anti-war bloc in the me clothing union, once led by li Sidney Hillman, and the ret trades and packing houses, a defect unless Mr. Humphrey nominated with Ted Kennedy another who symbolizes B Kennedy.

Nor is the saddened Geo Meany, America's Mr. Labor, to fight young Ted. Few aware that Mr. Meany I developed a fatherly affect for Jack Kennedy as that of Ambassa Joe Kennedy. And as Geo Meany goes, so does the la federation. He fought I Kennedy for many imperac reason. But none of these will suffer by Ted.

So the rhetorical answer Ted Kennedy's "Who needs it?" could well be the libe labor-Democratic coalit. Their front is not as solid s seems. A heavy percentage is Nelson Rockefeller; a siz bloc will vote for Ge Wallace. And as this column show shortly, Richard Nix running strong among the la and file too.

So the labor-Democ alliance can ill afford defections. Slowly, la strategists begin to see Kennedy as the polit adhesive -- that is, a mixtu the Kennedy mystique charisma, deified by a hard which will follow no one bu Kennedys.

THE NEW MORALITY
IN The climatic struggle between Life and Look magazines for the national circulation sweepstakes, we're getting a lot of gee-whiz journalism these days.

One of the lip-smackingest pieces of gee-whizzery appeared in the Life of May 31 and consisted principally of a number of testimonials to the spiritually ennobling effect of college shakups, to be known henceforth, apparently, as "the arrangement."

DR. IRA Reiss of the University of Iowa is quoted as hailing the end of the "double standard" under which the collegiate male was more active sexually than the coed, and he forecast "healthier, more open sexual attitudes."

Dr. William Masters, the Kinsey researcher, forecast "stronger rather than weaker relationships," and Dr. Joseph Katz of Stanford spoke rather vaguely about "not so much a decline in moral codes as a change in their contents," meaning, apparently, that students who sleep with somebody are of a lot higher class than those who sleep with anybody.

Dean of Students Wally Sikes of Antioch College says: "I feel like asking whose business all this is. Sexual fun and games aren't important here. Much more important, our students are working toward living by a set of values. They have a very ethical approach to life."

All good students want to be ethical. If you can be ethical with fun and games, boy—that's egg in the beer!

AS TO the cohabiting students themselves, Life fun and games without such hang-ups as dirty diapers and baby shoes, and if his previous few wanted their names used. As a result, the testimonials had the foggy quality of old patent medicine ads in which Mrs. M. W. of North Dakota allowed a how Chief Muskrat's Electric Oil snatched her away from death's door.

So in Life we read that Patty and Al in New Orleans are so determined not to get "hung up" that neither squawks when the other stays away from him in pad all night. Ed and Carol of Berkeley live in the same room with a male friend, but it's quite a proper arrangement because, as Ed says, the friend "uses ear

The POWER of FAITH

Micah, the former prophet whose book is sixth among the minor prophets, had a great love for the humble people of the soil. He had an intense antipathy toward the corrupt city life in Israel and regarded the abuses of the national leaders as sins against the covenant of God.

Yet he was an optimist and said, "And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."

"And He shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off, and they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

RALLYING POINT

As an army follows a banner into battle and the waving standard proves to be a rallying point, most of us have times when we are low and discouraged and need a rallying point. God's love and grace is our point of encouragement. We need to worship to be reminded of the reality of God's care for us. If you are low, why not try the prescription of worship?

Skins Welcome Beban, Fischer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Beban, the 1967 Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, couldn't come to terms with the Los Angeles Rams but he certainly talks the language of the Washington Redskins and Kathy Hanson.

Beban has a couple of new contracts today—one with the Redskins, the other with the former Miss Hanson, who he married in Alhambra, Calif., Friday.

About seven hours before the couple were married, the Redskins announced they had acquired the rights to negotiate with Beban from the Rams in a trade for their 1969 No. 1 draft choice.

Club President Edward Bennett Williams said Beban had agreed to terms—something he couldn't do with Los Angeles. He'll sign Monday.

The Redskins, who also announced the signing of St. Louis defensive back Pat Fischer, were enthused with the acquisition of Beban, even though it gives them five quarterbacks—veterans Sonny Jurgensen and Jim Ninowski and rookies Beban, Harry Theofiles and Danny Talbott.

Fischer, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound seven-year veteran, is expected to strengthen the Redskins in an area where they've had problems.

The Redskins owe St. Louis a player for Fischer, who played out his option. Commissioner Pete Rozelle will decide who they must give since the two

The World Champion Cardinals, constantly on the lookout for new diamond talent, will sponsor baseball tryouts in Paducah, Kentucky, on June 25 and 26, it was announced today by Farm Director George Silvey.

This is a once-in-a-summer opportunity for the young players in the area to get in on all the action at Brooks Stadium, where the tryouts will start each day at 10: A.M. under the direction of veteran Red Bird scout W. H. "Buddy" Lewis.

Any player between 16 and 22 is welcome to take part in the tryouts. He should bring his glove, shoes and a uniform if he has one. All other equipment will be supplied by the Cardinals.

"The search today for the Cardinal diamond greats of tomorrow goes on," Silvey remarked. "We have a reputation or molding players with potential into major leaguers, and these tryouts could mean the start of a rewarding professional career for someone. Many players have broken into baseball the tryout camp way."

No fee is charged to participate in the tryouts. A player signed to a contract will be reimbursed for the expenses he incurs incident to the tryouts.

"We'll be looking for hustling, Cardinal-type players for our seven-club farm system," Silvey went on. "We have a topnotch staff of dedicated managers and instructors, too, ever ready to give the newcomers the benefit of their experience and baseball know-how. A player with the tools has everything going for him in our organization and you can be sure he'll reach the big time as quickly as his ability warrants. These tryouts could be a dream-come-true for someone and we're counting on a good turnout."

To take part an American Legion player must have a letter of approval from either his Legion Coach or Post Commander.

The sport of shotgun shooting at clay birds takes many forms. It ranges from the simplest sort of popping at clay targets tossed from a hand trap and the more imaginative variations simulating the flight of game birds under hunting field conditions to the well regulated competitive contests in trap and skeet.

In all its forms, it is estimated that more than 350-million clay targets are fired at by shotgun shooters every year, a figure that shows an average yearly increase of approximately ten per cent since 1955.

As participation sports, trap and skeet represent the two forms of clay target shooting best suited to recreational shooting facilities capable of accommodating great numbers of participants safely and efficiently.

The Amateur Trapshooting Association, Vandalia, Ohio - regulating body for Trapshooting in America -- has a membership of approximately 37,000 persons -- exclusive of its permanent roster of 8,000 life members, about half of whom are active shooters. In 1967, 3,732 registered shoots were conducted under ATA regulations. Affiliated with the ATA are more than 843 gun clubs.

The regulating body for skeet shooting in America is the National Skeet Shooting Association, Dallas, Tex. Its 1967 membership totalled 15,521 shooters. In 1867, 2,204 registered shoots and 108 international-style shoots were held under NSSA regulations. Gun Clubs affiliated with the NSSA number approximately 600.

LIFE'S A LAUGH for "Coconut," three-year-old son of "Coco," the circus clown. Just to prove he's a chip off the old block, "Coconut," with an assist from dad, dons oversized shoes, make-up and wig to become a pint-sized version of his father. Looks as though life is going to be a lot of laughs for him and many, many others.

All Eyes Still on Legs

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Whether skirts wander from mini heights, skim the knees or hover at mid-calf, focus is still on legs for summer.

The habit of commencing costume planning by choosing color for the legs seems to be captivating women all over the country. One novel evidence of this phenomenon is recent nationwide sale of Jet-setter, a zippered vinyl suitcase filled with 24 multicolored pairs of panty hose, each in a convenient pigeonhole. This was originally designed as an eye-catching display and not as an item for sale.

"Americans are far ahead of Europeans in adventurous use of color on the legs," said Betty Curry, fashion director of Burlington, who has just completed a leg-fashion-checking tour of Europe.

"The British are ahead of Americans in universal enthusiasm for panty hose, but are just beginning to experiment with a wider range of color in their leg fashions."

Some confusion has been caused, Miss Curry believes, by the British use of "midi" to denote mid-thigh skirts which Americans call "mini." In Britain the mid-calf length is called "maxi," but it is not seen much except in coats for fall.

"Youth dominates fashion trends in all countries and to fulfill the youth spirit, knees must be free for action," noted Miss Curry. "We predict that the mid-calf skirt for daytime will be obsolete just as the granny quickly disappeared."

The summer lacy textures are hosiery favorites, in tune with fashion's pretty-girl look. And for daytime drama, there's a three-colored textured panty hose that's in the dashing mood of Bonnie and Clyde.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

The best-kept secret of the Vietnamese war, an allied offensive against the Ashau valley Communist stronghold has been under way since mid-April. The valley, a major staging area and supply route 2,000 feet above sea level and bordered by mountain peaks, varies from 600 feet to five miles in width and runs 25 miles from the Laotian border to central Vietnam's coastal plain, within 15 miles of embattled Hue. U.S. commanders call the Communist-built road through the valley a "superhighway."

Stamps In The News

Dominica, a Caribbean island enjoying associated statehood with Great Britain, has honored International Human Rights Year with five new commemorative stamps. The stamps portray famous individuals who have been recognized for their roles in the field of civil rights and human dignity.

The 1 cent depicts John F. Kennedy, 10 cents Cecil L.A. Rawls (a pioneer in the fight for freedom in the West Indies), 12 cents Pope John XXIII, 48 cents Florence Nightingale, 60 cents Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Each stamp also bears the royal emblem of Queen Elizabeth II and the symbol of the International Red Cross.

United Nations Human Rights Year.

Dominica, also known as Sunday Island, was discovered by Columbus on Nov. 3, 1494. The French and British fought fiercely for the island for some 200 years until the latter won. The first Dominican stamps appeared in 1874 during the reign of Queen Victoria.

Iran has issued four new stamp sets, two of which honor the visits of rulers of other nations. A 6-rs stamp is dedicated to the visit of King Hassan of Morocco and a similar denomination honors the arrival of President Tito of Yugoslavia. The other sets commemorate the 5th International Congress of Iranian Art and Archaeology and the Human Rights Conference in Tehran.

Turkey has issued two sets of stamps dedicated to its judicial history. One set of two stamps commemorates the centenary of its Court of Appeals. Designs show a portrait of Mithat Pacha, first president of the court, a law book and a tree branch. The other set of two honors the 100th anniversary of its Supreme Court. Illustrated are scales of justice and a portrait of Cavdet Pasa, first president of that highest law body.

FARM WEDDING in Sussex, England, utilized appropriate means of transportation. Peter Hague and his bride, the former Susanne Stoddard, are driven from church to reception in a combine harvester.

Three Texans were discussing what they'd do if they inherited a million dollars. The minister in the group said he would build a new church and invest some to insure the minister's salary against an empty collection plate. The banker said he would lend it to farmers at seven or eight percent interest and make another million in 10 years or less. The farmer thought about it a minute and concluded: "I reckon I would just go on farming as long as it lasted."

From a speech by Senator George McGovern (D., S.D.)

If You Were the Judge

Candidate's Promise Of Job Invalid

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

During a political campaign, honest John allegedly promised Herbie a political job if Herbie would work to help him get elected mayor. And, Herbie worked like a beaver. Consequently, when John was elected and no job was forthcoming, Herbie took a dim view of John's by-passing him. In fact, he sued him for fraud and deceit.

"After all the hands I shook in his behalf," Herbie told the judge, "the Mayor is now trying to shake me. The fact is, he never intended to give me a job. His only intention was to trick me into working form him."

"While I admit he worked hard for me," was the Mayor's answer, "I never really promised him a job. He worked for the good of the party."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the Mayor pay Herbie for breaking his promise? This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that while he sympathized with Herbie, a candidate's promise to reward a person with a political government job in exchange for his campaign efforts is against public policy and void.

some fields will cut down the wheat yield per acre, and in general early returns indicate yields will be below average.

The county average is around 38 to 40 bushels in normal seasons.

One elevator operator told this newspaper that one customer had reported 41 bushels per acre, but added "this may be an exception."

Most of the wheat will probably be placed in the loan with the price pegged at $1.36.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"I started out just cutting classes. And at first it was a lot of fun. There's only one trouble. The jobs that kids who quit school can get only pay about $50 or $60 a week. With no chance of promotion. But just imagine you were a boss. Who would you promote? Drop-outs? Or people with education? So I pulled myself together. Went back to class full time. And finished school. I can't say I had a ball. But a couple of hard years in school are a lot better than a long hard life without it."

Ann Landers

Long Life Chances Improve

Dear Ann Landers: What is this world coming to? It seems like the only place a person is safe anymore is in his grave. Last fall an airliner crashed into a row of houses and a dozen people were killed in their living rooms or asleep in their beds.

Several weeks ago a mother in Miami was walking in a park with two little children -- one a baby in a carriage. A drunk driver missed the corner turn and drove up on the sidewalk and killed the mother and the baby.

Yesterday a neighbor told me her cousin's children were playing in their own backyard when a pack of wild dogs jumped the hedge and almost tore the children apart.

Every day we read of senseless killings on the streets of the big cities -- in broad daylight, and often with onlookers who did nothing to help the victim.

I am a teen-ager who is wondering if people are safe anywhere. Please give me some encouragement. I am -- OLD BEFORE MY TIME

Dear Old: Life today is somewhat more hazardous because (1) there are more people and they are living closer together. (2) There are more ways for people to get killed due to technological "progress." (3) More nuts have guns than ever before which means more people are going to be shot.

Yet in spite of all this, the insurance actuaries show that every male born in 1967 can expect to reach 68 years of age. Every female can expect to live at least three years longer. Medical science is largely responsible for lengthening the life span.

So stop worrying. Your chances today are actually better than ever. Besides, worry can shorten your life.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine asked me to drive down to the courthouse with her so she could "straighten around" her driver's license. It seems that when Polly renewed her license her hair was dark brown. She is now an ash blonde.

Polly took her license out of her purse and I noticed she had given her age as 48. I happen to know she is 53. When I called this "error" to her attention she replied, "I don't think it's anybody's business how old I am."

It occurred to me that Polly might get into trouble if it were discovered she gave a false age. What about this? --GLENVIEW, ILLINOIS

Dear Glen: State laws vary.

but in Illinois, if a person knowingly makes a false statement when applying for a license he may suddenly find his license revoked.

More and more (thank heaven) state laws are being passed which require that everyone over 68 years of age take an examination in order to get his driver's license renewed. This makes it imperative that people be truthful about their age.

Confidential to Tired Of Love: What you are tired of isn't love. He sounds like a dingbat and you sound a little cuckoo yourself.

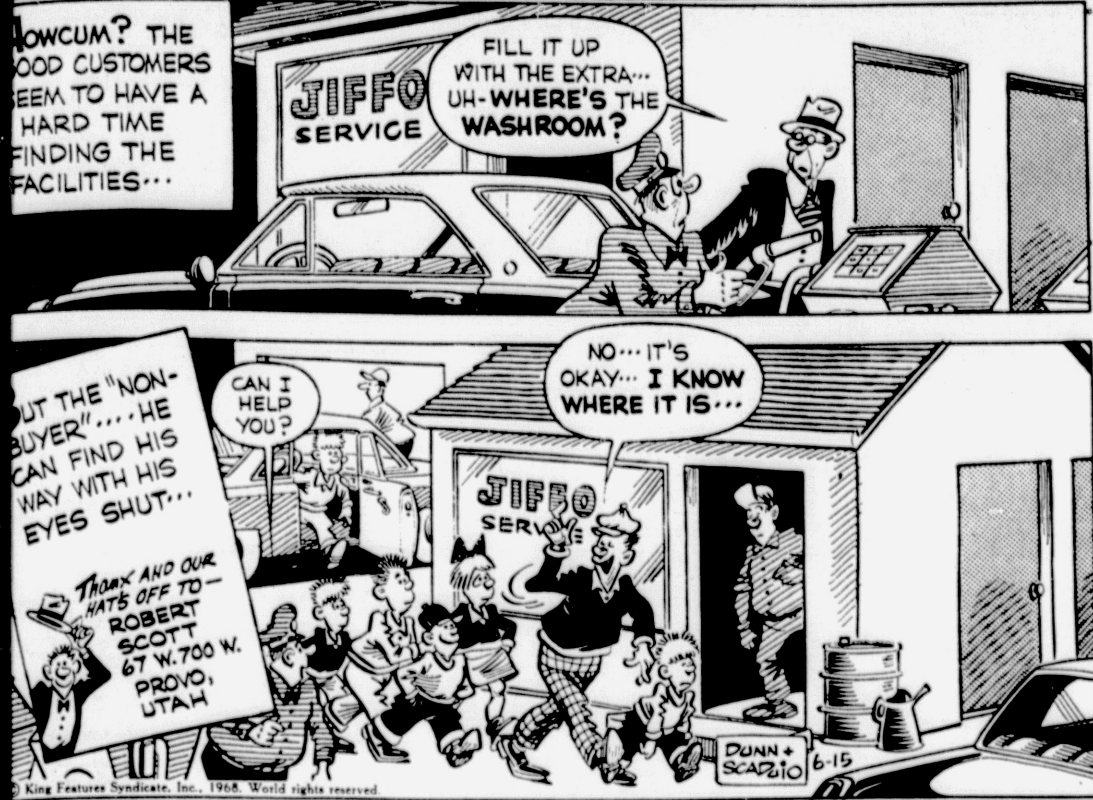

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
